ABSTRACT OF FUR LAWS, 1947-48

Compiled by Frank G. Ashbrook, In Charge, Wild Fur Animal Investigations Division of Wildlife Research

The lively demand for furs of all kinds yields American trappers millions of dollars a year. Until trapping begins these furs have not cost them a single effort. Speaking generally, fur animals transform uncultivated materials into valuable peltries without expense or attention on the part of the landowners.

When the grain and the hay have been harvested, farmers, their sons, and tenants take down their traps and set out to take the crop of fur. The number of trapping licenses annually purchased in the United States is estimated at 2,500,000. About three-fourths of this number are held by farmers and farm boys under 16 years of age. Since in many States farm boys under 16 years of age are not required by law to procure trapping licenses, the number of persons taking fur animals would be increased by at least 200,000, or the total number of persons annually engaged in trapping fur animals in the United States and Alaska would be about 2,700,000. Undoubtedly the number of trappers and hunters has increased greatly during the years since the close of World War II, and, therefore, a heavier drain has been put upon the fur resources and greater quantities of fur animals have been taken.

To protect and perpetuate the supply of wild fur animals at the present level of production, the existing conservation laws (which are under the jurisdiction of the individual States and not of the Federal Government) should be improved and greater care should be taken of the breeding stock. Restocking depleted areas and developing new habitats for fur animals are also necessary for proper conservation.

The tabulations in this leaflet of the open seasons in 1947-48 on fur animals and the summaries of the provisions of State and Provincial laws concerning possession, sale, shipment, export, and licenses have been prepared primarily to aid Federal officials in conducting investigations under the Lacey Act and enforcing its provisions and to answer inquiries of State game officials, trappers, and other interested persons. Every effort has been made to have the summaries correct, but the trapping seasons in many States and Provinces being subject to change by orders or regulations of the respective conservation authorities, it would be well for trappers and others concerned to apply direct to the proper agency for the latest information on State and Provincial laws, orders, and regulations before engaging in trapping or other activities involving fur animals or parts thereof.

The Federal Lacey Act is found on page 46 of this leaflet.

wildcat, weasel, badger No closed season.
Fisher, wolverine No open season.
Pine marten (District 1 1/2 only) No open season.
Other fur animals Nov. 16 - Feb. 28.

Note.—Trapping license (license year, July 1-June 30) is required for trapping pine martens (except in District 1 1/2), minks, river otters, foxes, and muskrats for profit and cannot be killed during the closed season except when destroying property. Spike or sawtooth traps cannot be used.

Possession and sale.—No restrictions on skins legally taken.

Shipment and export.—No restrictions on skins legally taken.

Licenses.—Citizen, $1; alien, $2. Licensee must submit before July 1, a report of his catch, giving names and addresses of persons to whom pelts were sold or shipped.

Open seasons

Beaver, fisher, opossum, otter No open season.
 Fox, wolverine, ringtail cat (all species), mink, muskrat, weasel (see exception) Nov. 1 - Jan. 31.

Exception: The White River, Grand Mesa, Uncompahgre, Routt, and Montezuma National Forest areas . . . No open season.

Raccoon (see note) Nov. 1 - Nov. 30.

Note.—Raccoons may be hunted with dogs by those in possession of regular trapper's license.

Note.—Special permits in case of damage being done by fur-bearing animals shall be issued only where definite proof is given that damage was actually done. Persons requesting such permits should make application to the nearest officer of the State Game and Fish Department. All pelts taken under these permits shall be divided fifty percent to the permittee and fifty percent to the Game and Fish Department.

Possession and sale.—Skins legally taken may be possessed during the open season and for 15 days thereafter. A permit is required for possession of skins by trapper and dealer 30 days after close of season.
 These permits expire on September 1 of the year of issue but may be renewed upon application on or before that date. The permit must accompany pelts sold by trapper or dealer whether sold within or out of the State. If the trapper or dealer disposes of only part of the pelts covered by the permit, the original permit must accompany the pelts disposed of and an application made for a new permit to cover the remainder.

Shipment and export.—See Possession and sale. Shipping tags provided by the State Game and Fish Commission must be attached to each bundle shipped, and each bundle must show name, post office address, and license number of shipper. Licensed trappers, dealers, and all persons must obtain a shipping permit from the Commission for each shipment of furs out of the State. The permit must be attached to each bundle shipped and must show the number and kind of each pelt in the shipment, names of shipper and consignee, and license number of consignor. Licensed dealers must furnish the Commission on or before June 30 next or at any time required to do so, a written report showing number and kinds of skins purchased from trappers and the amount paid. Fur purchased from other dealers shall not be included in this report.

Licenses.—Resident, $2; nonresident, $25. Fur dealer; resident, $25; nonresident, $50. The Commission may require licensees to submit such reports as it may deem necessary. Special resident trapping permits are issued without charge to children under fourteen years of age of a resident landowner or farm tenant when application is made to the nearest game warden or fur inspector in writing.

Note.—Skunks injuring property may be taken at any time, but the skins of animals so taken must not be possessed or trafficked in.

Note.—Wild animals may not be taken by the use of leg gripping traps having teeth in jaws or in those having a greater spread of jaws than 6 inches. Traps must not be set in such manner that an animal, when caught, will be suspended.

Traps must be stamped with the operator's name and must be visited at least once in 24 hours. No person shall take or remove from a legally set trap any wild animal or possess such animal without the consent of the owner of such trap. The use of any device consisting of a noose of any material in the taking of fur animals is prohibited.

Possession, sale, shipment, and export.—No restrictions on skins legally taken, except that the skins of the animals listed herein shall not be sold while attached to the carcass; nor shall the carcass of any such animal, or part thereof, be bought or sold unless the skin or hide is removed therefrom.

Licenses.—Trapping: resident, $2.25; nonresident and alien, $25.
Licensees are required to report the number and species of animals taken during the previous season.

THE FEDERAL LACEY ACT

An act of Congress of May 25, 1900 (31 State. 187), as amended, known as the Lacey Act, provides, among other things, that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association to deliver or knowingly receive for shipment, transportation, or carriage, or to ship, transport, or carry, by any means whatever from any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia to, into, or through any other State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, or to a foreign country, any wild animal, or the dead body or part thereof, imported from any foreign country contrary to any law of the United States, or captured, killed, taken, purchased, sold, or possessed contrary to any such law, or captured, killed, taken, shipped, transported, carried, purchased, sold, or possessed contrary to the law of any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, or foreign country or State, Province, or other subdivision thereof in which it was captured, killed, taken, purchased, sold, or possessed, or in which it was delivered or knowingly received for shipment, transportation, or carriage, or from which it was shipped, transported, or carried or to transport, bring, or convey by any means whatever, from any foreign country into the United States any wild animal, or the dead body or part thereof, captured, killed, taken, shipped, transported, or carried contrary to the law of the foreign country, or State, Province, or other subdivision thereof, in which it was captured, killed, taken, delivered, or knowingly received for shipment, transportation, or carriage, or from which it was shipped, transported, or carried. The act further provides that no person, firm, corporation, or association purchasing or receiving any wild animal, or the dead body or part thereof, imported from any foreign country or shipped, transported, or carried in interstate commerce shall make any false record or render any account that is false in reference thereto.

An amendment of June 15, 1935 (49 State. 380), confers upon employees of the Department of the Interior authorization to enforce the act (in accordance with Reorganization Plan No. 2, transferring certain functions from the Department of Agriculture), power to arrest any person committing a violation of any provision of the act in his presence or view, and also, under warrant, authority to search for and seize any wild animals or the dead bodies or parts thereof shipped, transported, or carried in violation of the act.

An amendment of June 19, 1939 (53 State. 840), provides that all packages or containers, except those from foreign countries, in which the furs, hides or skins of wild animals are shipped, transported, or carried shall be plainly and clearly marked or labeled on the outside thereof with the names and addresses of the shipper and the consignee.
